MATCH PREVIEW

YOUUNITED

CANBERRA WENT SOME WAY TO VANQUISHING LAST YEAR'S GRAND FINAL PAIN BY EXACTING PLAYOFF REVENGE ON THE ROOSTERS, BUT NOW MIGHTY MELBOURNE ARE BLOCKING THEIR PATH TO CONSECUTIVE APPEARANCES IN THE SEASON DECIDER.

VIA: NRL.COM

While Raiders stars Josh Papalii, Joe Tapine and Jack Wighton were willing their side to a famously gritty victory on Friday, the Storm enjoyed a rest having beaten Parramatta the week prior.

Melbourne haven't lost in Queensland for 19 matches, so Canberra are faced with a stiff task at Suncorp Stadium. However, Ricky Stuart's troops have proven time and again they thrive under adversity.

These teams have fought out some terrific games in recent times, not least in week one of the finals in 2019 when Canberra held on for a 12-10 victory at the Storm's AAMI Park fortress.

THE RUNDOWN

TEAM NEWS

Storm: Star five-eighth Cameron Munster trained over the weekend and is on track to play after using the week off to rehab his knee injury. Back-rower Tom Eisenhuth (calf) could return, but middle forwards Dale Finucane (calf) and Tui Kamikamica (foot) were only considered outside hopes by football manager Frank Ponissi last week.

Raiders: With no major injuries from the Roosters game, Ricky Stuart could lock in an unchanged 17 for the second straight week.

KEY MATCH-UP

Jesse Bromwich v Josh Papalii: The ever-consistent Bromwich has the challenge of shutting down opposing front-row enforcer Papalii, who has at times carried Canberra with his inspirational efforts. There are some other great one-on-one match-ups - namely five-eighths Cameron Munster and Jack Wighton - but it's in the engine room where this match is likely to be won.

STAT ATTACK

A 90 per cent completion rate (38/42 sets) propelled the Raiders to victory over the Roosters. The simplicity of holding the ball and desperation in defence could be the key to toppling the electric Storm, who completed at 73 per cent in their win against the Eels.
